Keep 'em Rolling for National Defense!

Step by step, the American railroads have met the constantly increasing transportation needs of national defense — smoothly and efficiently.

But there's a bigger job ahead. And it is absolutely essential to get the greatest possible use out of railroad cars. So, to conserve cars for national defense, shippers and receivers of freight are urged to follow these common-sense practices, recommended by the National Defense Advisory Commission:

1. Give advance notice of requirements but do not order cars placed for loading until commodities are ready to load.
2. Unload cars promptly on arrival and notify railroad when empty car is available. (One day saved in the average "turn-around" time of each car by faster unloading, will add 100,000 cars to the available supply.)
3. Load cars to load limit stenciled on each car or to full visible capacity, whichever governs. (Increasing the average carload by one ton, will add 30,000 cars to the available supply.)
4. Remove all dunnage, blocking and rubbish from cars after unloading to permit immediate re-use and eliminate necessity of delay to cars for reconditioning.

Supported by this patriotic contribution of shippers and receivers, the American railroads will continue to keep the wheels rolling for national defense.

The American BANKING System

Democracy at its Best

There are some 16,000 American banks, each owned and operated by local citizens. Separate in a sense — yet they are knit together into one great "system" by the common aim of service. Responsive to the needs of each community, yet they are geared to meet the nation's needs instantly in its hour of crisis. There's nothing like it elsewhere; it's the envy of every other country; it's democracy functioning, at its very best.
